How to program a innovage jumbo universal remote control

By J. Anthony Cooley The Big Matters Jumbo Universal Remote is an oversized remote control that is easy to see and too big to get lost in the couch cushions. This hefty remote is for people with bad eye sight and the large buttons make the programming process easier as well. To program the remote, you press a specific sequence of buttons and enter a specialized code for the device you are programming. The entire process takes a couple of minutes to complete. Turn on the device to which you want to program the remote. Download the User's Manual from the Remote Central website and locate the codes list for your device. (See References) Press and hold the button that matches the type of device you are programming to the remote (such as TV, VCR, DVD, SAT and CAB) for three seconds, until the indicator light illuminates. Enter the code for your device by pressing the corresponding numbers into the number pad. You must do this within 30 seconds of the indicator light illuminating. Afterward, the indicator light shuts off. Aim the remote at the device and press the "Power" button. If the device shuts off, the code worked. If the device remains on, repeat the process using a different code and continue to do so until one of the codes works. By William Pullman The Innovage Jumbo Universal Remote is a device that can operate multiple electronics systems with one control. The Jumbo Universal Remote supports cable, television, VCR, DVD and satellite systems. The remote control takes only a few minutes to set up and has the ability to accept input codes for the different devices or search for the devices' codes. The Innovage Universal Remote controls several devices once you input a code into the remote for your specific devices. The instruction manual contains hundreds of codes for the more popular device manufacturers. If you know the make and model of the device you wish to control, consult the instruction manual for the proper code. To enter the code into the remote, turn on the device you want to add. Point the remote control at the device and hold the "Code Search" button until the LED light is solid red. Press the button for the device you want to set, such as "TV" or "DVD." The light will blink once and then stay solid red. Use the number buttons on the remote to enter the first code associated with your device. Once the code is inserted, the LED light will turn off. Point the remote at the device and press the "On/Off" button. If the device turns off, the code is correct. If the device does not turn off, repeat the preceding steps using the next code on the list. You may find that the manufacturer of the device you want to add to the remote is not listed in the instruction manual or you do not have access to the manual to find the codes. The Jumbo Universal Remote has an automatic code search that will scroll through each of the codes until it finds the correct code for your device. To use the code search, turn on the device you want to set. Point the remote at the device and hold the "Code Search" button until the LED is solid red. Press the corresponding button for the device you wish to set, such as "TV" or "DVD." With the remote pointed at the device, repeatedly press the "On/Off" button. Continue to do this until the device powers off. When it shuts off, press the "Enter" button to set the remote control. Use the "On/Off" button and see if the device turns on again. If it does, the setting is complete. If it does not, attempt the code search again and be sure to press the "Enter" button quickly when the device turns off. The buttons on the Jumbo Universal Remote are all similar to the types of buttons found on standard remote controls. The buttons have the same labels, making the transition to a different remote control easy. The remote control does require you to press the button of the device you want to control prior to trying to control that device. For example, if you want to operate your DVD player, press the "DVD" button before using any of the other buttons. Given the wide range of equipment makers, models and features, an RCA universal remote control has a complex job living up to its billing. RCA sells remotes capable of controlling up to eight devices so -- while programming may seem complex -- you're really just repeating the same process for each device. Many components of your home entertainment system can be discovered automatically by the universal remote. Even manual methods follow a simple pattern of steps to give your remote authoritative command of your home theater. Auto Code SearchWhile "auto code search" is recommended by RCA as the easiest way to program your remote, it may also take the longest. Turn On the Device to ProgramPower up the device to program into your remote. No need to connect it to your system; the component needs only power at this stage. Press and Hold the Device Key on the RemotePress the key corresponding to the device you're programming. In some cases, such as a combined VCR/DVD key, you may need to select which device you're programming by using a number key while holding down the device key. VCRs use the number 2 for example, while DVD players use the number 3. Check your remote's instructions for these number key options. Release both keys once you've entered the correct number. Device keys controlling a single device, such as a TV, don't require a number key. Prepare for Auto Code SearchPress and hold the device key you're programming then press and hold the On/Off key until the key's light comes on and stays on; then release both keys.Start the Auto Code SearchPoint the remote at the device you're programming. Press the Play button on the remote to send a batch of 10 codes to the device. Wait five seconds and watch for the device to turn off. If it does not, press Play again and wait another five seconds. Continue this sequence until the device turns off.Identify the Correct CodePress the Reverse key on the remote to cycle through the last batch of 10 codes. Wait at least two seconds after pressing Reverse to see if the device turns on. If not, press reverse again until it does. When the device turns on, press the Stop key. The device is now programmed in the universal remote memory.Direct Code EntryWhen you know the manufacturer's code for the device you're programming, entering it directly can be much quicker than using the auto code search.Select the Device to ProgramWith the device to be programmed turned on, press and hold the corresponding device button on the remote. With your other hand, enter the five-digit code for your device. The On/Off key goes out after entering the first number but will light up when you've entered a valid code.Check for Proper OperationPoint the remote at the device and press the On/Off key. The device turns off if you've entered the correct code for the device. If it doesn't turn off, use the next code in the manufacturer's list of codes for that device type, and repeat Step 1. You can find device codes in your universal remote instructions or look these up online at RCA's Remote Code Finder. Brand Code SearchSome popular brands are stored in the remote's memory. Limiting your search to one of these brands may be your quickest programming option.Look up the Brand Code for Your DeviceFrom the universal remote's instructions, locate and note the brand code for your device. This is the number you will enter into the remote.Prepare the Remote for the Brand CodeWith the device being programmed turned on, press and hold the corresponding device key, then press and hold the On/Off key. The On/Off key light will go out, but hold the buttons until it turns on again. Release both keys at this point.Enter the Brand CodeUse the number pad to enter the brand code into the remote.Cycle Through Brand CodesPoint the remote at the device and press the On/Off key, waiting at least two seconds. If the device shuts off, you've found the correct code. If not, press the On/Off key again and wait at least two seconds. Repeat this until the device shuts off. Then press Stop to set the code, and you're ready to use the device. In extreme cases, you can cycle manually through all codes stored in the universal remote's memory. This is similar to the other methods, but due to the large number of equipment makers and models, it can be time-consuming. how do i program my innovage jumbo universal remote. how to program a innovage jumbo universal remote
